FOR SLAVERY--ANNIHILATION

FOR REBELLION--SURRENDER

FOR TREASON--PUNISHMENT

The dead body of the murdered President passes to a grave in the prairies--and the New York people promptly asks:

WHAT SHALL BE THE RETRIBUTION?

Perhaps the sorrow of a great nation is the sublimest spectacle possible on earth. The pyramids of stone and sacred ashes through the land is the most pathetic incident of American history. The body of Washington was not wept with so many tears.

Although Abraham Lincoln bore the most forgiving of human tempers; although he was now dictating terms to the rebellion, he would prove himself the most clement of conquerors; although, could his frozen lips speak, he would say, "Deal mercifully with my people; yet, would not the offense be atoned, nor justice be appealed?" "Why?" said the Judge. "I can scarcely turn away from the application (if it touches his feelings) of a man, and the tears of a woman are sure to overcome him!"

LINCOLN'S CLEMENCY.

If the slightest occasion existed for showing clemency he was sure to improve it.

Judge Bates said that he had often told the President that he was hardly fit to be intrusted with the pardoning power.

"Why?" said the Judge. "I can scarcely turn away from the application (if it touches his feelings) of a man, and the tears of a woman are sure to overcome him!"

A TOUCHING INSTANCE OF LINCOLN'S KINDNESS OF HEART.

A poor woman from Philadelphia had been waiting with baby in her arms, for three days to see the President. Her husband had furnished a substitute for the army, but some time afterward was one day made intoxicated by some companions and in this state induced to enlist. Soon after he came to the President, and, thinking that, as he had provided a substitute, the Government were not entitled to his services. Returning home, he was, of course, arrested, tried, convicted, and sentenced to be shot. The sentence was to be executed at the U. S. Arsenal, on the 17th Kentucky cavalry, who is at present on duty here, started up to How's valley, in Hardin county, with some thirty of his men, who were accompanied by about the same number of State guards from Cleveland, who Capt. Cummings and their men, when in the town of Big Spring, had learned that Capt. Collins and eight guerrillas under him had just left their place of rendezvous at the house of Mr. Singletary. This was the "Tenth day," as they say, about 4 o'clock the next morning they made a dash upon them, when a sharp fight ensued. Four guerrillas were killed, four mortally wounded, and five taken prisoners, who were sent the same day to Louisville. We regret to learn that in this fight Capt. Collins, who received three severe wounds, of which he died this morning. He was an excellent officer, greatly beloved by his men, who will assuredly avenge his death the greater cause they have.

The gallant captain was in bed when his friends came to him, and, though he had a full supply of resources, he was unable to get out on his horse and draw his sword, which he received this morning. He was an excellent officer, greatly beloved by his men, who will assuredly avenge his death the greater cause they have.

THE DAILY PRESS
OFFICE---PRESS BUILDING
NO. 826
JEFFERSON STREET,
LOUISVILLE:
TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1865.

News of the Day.

The Post's Washington special says the President and Cabinet are considering measures of some kind of order throughout the South. A proclamation will be issued in a few days with a view to encourage trade and commerce. The special also says that Sherman's army is preparing to march homeward, which may possibly be true.

The authorities of Prince George county, Md., have offered a reward of $2,000 for the return of any one of the accomplices of Booth within the limits of that county.

Should the water in the Lower Mississippi continue at its present high stage until increased in volume by the usual June rise, the damage will be almost incalculably great. In some places the water is now nearly as high as tide tide. Opposite Vicksburg, the water is several feet deep all over the peninsula, and is still flowing in, and the town of De Soto is submerged. One of the houses caved in a few days since, and four or five of its occupants were drowned.

Malloy, formerly United States Senator from Florida, and Confederate Senator of the North, surrendered himself to Captain Watson, U. S. N., at Pensacola, Florida, on the 20th ult.

There were no eastern troops, it seems, on the ill-fated Sultana when she blew up. The number reported lost now by the terrible disaster is 1,700. The boat was loaded far beyond her capacity. There were 2,000 rebels prisoners in Vicksburg when the Sultana left, 3,000 of our prisoners were left at Andersonville, in consequence of the railroad between Andersonville and Jackson being destroyed. They will be sent to Annapolis the via sea.

The crew of the rebel ram Webb consisted of six-four persons, including eight signal officers. The traitor, according to signal officers, by raising the rebel flag, after passing New Orleans, she was fired into by a battery, one 200-pound ball passing through her bow. Our gunboats pursued the ram, and when twenty-four miles below the city she was set on fire and abandoned. The Webb went the way of all her predecessors.

A guerrilla named T. J. Thorpe was hung at Louisville yesterday.

The unsophisticated Mr. Lee thinks that as he and Jeff Davis were mere apostles of a political party, they are not more blameworthy than the rank and file who commissioned them for a career of devastation on the people of the United States, and that, therefore, he and Jeff Davis should no more be punished than a private in the ranks.

Gen. Howard, of the Army of the Tennessee, had issued an order enjoining upon his officers to allow no depredations upon citizens to be committed on the march. As hostilities had caused all forage was to be paid for in cash or in vouchers. Holden, of the Raleigh Standard, is spoken of for Governor of the State. He announces himself in favor of the Constitutional Amendment.

Gen. Hallack, at Richmond, has issued an order requiring all persons transacting business of any sort to take the oath of allegiance.

The rebel ram Albemarle, which was sunk by Lieut. Cushing, U. S. N., off Plymouth, N. C., has been raised, and will be returned to the service.

The dispatches of this morning give an account of the reception of the remains of the late President at Chicago, and of the ceremonies in honor of the illustrious dead.

Gold fell to 142½ in New York yesterday.

Mobile letters state that thirty thousand bales of cotton were found in that city, and that one hundred thousand bales of cotton and seventy-five thousand barrels of resin were on the Alabama river, within reach of our army.

REBEL WOMEN.

No class of the community has exhibited a more bitter or vindictive spirit than those women of Kentucky whose sympathies have been thoroughly enlisted in the cause of the rebellion.

Their influence on the minds of our young men has been great, and it has been "evil, only evil, and that continually." The sex has its peculiar privileges, and these privileges have been persistently and openly abused in the hour of the nation's trial. There has been a spitefulness, a bitterness, not to say devilishness, in their words and in their conduct that is perfectly appalling, and which years of suffering and repentance will hardly be sufficient to atone for.

The editor of the Louisville Journal knows them well. No man in the State understands their machinations better than he. He is doubtless competent to give judgment on their principles and conduct, both theoretically and practically, and in his paper of April 18, 1862, he thus discourses touching their conduct as it had come under his own observation:

The bitter and ferocious spirit of thousands of rebel women in Kentucky, Tennessee, and other States, is reported, to be the least, if not the least, of the female monsters who have sons and other male relatives in the Confederate army, who have daily for months paid their angel visits to the hospitals in this place, waiting on the sick soldiers, and speaking gentle words of comfort to the dying and desponding."

That is not at all the purpose. Ladies who are near and dear relatives in the rebel army are the least, if not the least, of the female monsters who have, who, probably, were slaves a year or two ago. That such a paper should have originated in New Orleans, and that its publication should not only be permitted, but its circulation extended beyond all expectation through the encouragement of the word which passes from it to the world, the wonders of the time, and a name-mark on the road to universal freedom, irrespective of clime or color. (Cincinnati Commercial)

The wealthiest revenue district in the Union, according to the report of Commissioner Lewis, is the first district of Illinois, composed of the counties of Peoria, Co. Cook. From September 1860 to June 1864, the first district of Illinois paid $4,471,503.69. The next wealthiest district was entirely acquitted of the charges that had been preferred against him. The evidence showed as pure a record for this noble son of Kentucky as any man can boast of. He was actuated in his policy by the sole purpose to serve his country faithfully.

TREASON--ROBERT E. LEE.

We suppose that all mathematicians are acquainted with a book called Hutton's Recreations, which are anything but recreations to any but the initiated. Men who are fond of dabbling in the reconnoiter character of words are somewhat familiar with Horne Tooke's Diversions of Purley, of which few men would take a second instalment for mere amusement. We hope that Robert E. Lee will now make a contribution to tough literature, in the midst of the ruins of State Rights." In a recent conversation at Richmond, he gives us an inkling of his reconnoiter views on the subject, and from this we can judge that he may produce a book worthy to be called a lucis a non lucendo. Lee modestly sets forth that he is neither a politician or a statesman, but only a soldier, and he clearly establishes the truth of his disclaimer. Yet he inconveniently proceeds to plunge into subjects that have tried the intellects of such experts as Coxe, Foster, Hale, Blackstone, and Chief Justice Marshall. The redoubtable leader of the armed treason against the people of the United States endeavors to excuse his gigantic crimes by pleading falsely that the questions of National sovereignty and State rights were left, sub die, in the organic law, and that he, Jeff Davis, the thief N. J. Floyd, Mr. Wigfall, Giddy Pillow, Jake Thompson, connected with the theft of the Indian annuities, and other like specimens of virtue merely got up "the levying of war" against the nation to settle little party differences. The ingenuous Robert Lee having thus laid his foundations proceeds to build thereon. His, therefore, from his premises is, that he and his gang of felons are not guilty of treason. Mr. Lee thinks that his "party" is about wrecked, not because they were wrong, but because they are effectually whipped by the military. He is under the impression that the question of State rights is about used up. In his view, it waded seriously when he was whipped, and will be thoroughly subjugated when the rest of the rebel armies reach the fate that has overtaken him. The latter part of this reasoning is an amazing approach to truth, considering that it comes from a rebel.

The unscrupulous Mr. Lee thinks that as he and Jeff Davis were mere apostles of a political party, they are not more blameworthy than the rank and file who commissioned them for a career of devastation on the people of the United States, and that, therefore, he and Jeff Davis should no more be punished than a private in the ranks.

The entire mind of rebellion seems to be given over to delusive reveries. In their hands vice is virtue, falsehood is truth, crime is goodness, the fierceness of malignant hate is charity, and darkness is light. In whatever direction the mind of rebels turns, it calls forth legions of noxious rebels. There is not now, there has never been in the history of man a more solemn, momentous, and imperative duty given to any people than that now before the American people, in teaching for the present and for all time to come that the entire rebellion, in all its parts and parcels, has always been in all its action, and is now a gigantic criminality. Each one leagued with it, and contributing anything to it, "however minute" or "however remote from the scene of action, and actually leagued in the general conspiracy" for levying war against the United States, and over into mourning by the news of the assassination of the President, and the 19th was observed with every mark of respect for the memory of the great and good man, and sorrow over the event. Services were held at all the churches in the city, and at the large assemblage at College Chapel in the afternoon, where appropriate exercises were had. All feel that the man who committed the crime was but the instrument of others; and the death of Ureah Burroughs something of a relief, because it seemed to be a cased for as far as possible.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the motion under the 13th section of the act of Congress, we hereby give public notice to all persons claiming said articles, or in any manner interested therein, that they be sent to the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court, in the City of Louisville, and for said District, on the first day of April, 1865, and then to interpose their claims, and to make their allegations in oral behalf.

The Press is the Official Paper of the United States for the State of Kentucky and the Southern portion of Indiana and Ohio.

REMOVAL OF THE VOLKSBLATT OFFICE.
The office of the Louisville Volksblatt (formerly our German edition), has been removed to the east side of Third street near Market. It is now under the able management of Mr. Wm. Krippenstaple, whose well-known reputation is a guarantee that it will not be behind any in the country. The editorial chair is occupied by Dr. Reinecke, who wields a pen of great ability, and our German fellow-citizens ought to feel proud of sustaining so able an organ of unconditional Unionism. It has our best wishes for its success.

JEFFERSON CIRCUIT COURT—FIRST DAY.
Most of the day was occupied in impanneling a jury and calling the docket. The cases of E. B. Gardner, Mary Chilly and Charles White were set for to-day. The cases of Wm. W. Walthall, William Blackwell and Charles Walthall were set for Wednesday. The cases of Joseph Graham and James Thompson were set for Thursday. The following were set for Saturday: William Lohm, Peter Ackerman, and Joseph Sherrill (two cases); Scott Thompson had his case set for Monday the 8th, and Robert Smith on the 15th.

A WARNING IN TIME.—We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that our streets are in a most horribly filthy condition. Notwithstanding the city ordinances against throwing filth, garbage, ashes, &c., into the streets, we are still subject to the reeking slush which now endangers the lives of our people. We call upon the Mayor to see that the policemen do their duty and put a stop to it at once, before a plague is decimating our city.

NEW MUSIC.—“A Nation Weeps,” a dirge on the death of Abraham Lincoln, by J. W. Turner, brought out in very appropriate style by the noted Boston publishers, Messrs. Oliver Ditson & Co. The Golden Wreath Waltz, dedicated to Miss M. Hewett, and the Della Dell Waltz, composed by Joseph M. C. Smith, Our Soldier Boys, song and chorus, music by J. W. Holden. All the above for sale by D. P. Faulds, Main street, to whom we are indebted for copies.

THE INDIANAPOLIS PAPERS are filled with accounts of the funeral ceremonies in that city on Sunday. Those who have traveled with the remains of the President from Washington pronounce it one of the grandest and most tasteful displays they have witnessed. Governor Bramlette and staff, and Gen. Palmer and staff joined the cortège at Indianapolis, and will proceed with it to Springfield.

POLICE COURT—Monday, May 1, 1865.—John Scott, drunkenness; fined $5.

E. A. Clark and Harvey Bloomer, drunkenness; fined $5 each.

Gen. Walker, James Parris, T. R. Hutchings and R. H. Thompson, drunkenness and disorderly conduct; fined $5 each.

Ann Jackson, disorderly conduct; discharged.

C. Caldwell, drunkenness and abuse of family; discharged at the request of his wife.

James Sheahan, Patrick Comely and Geo. Marker, drunkenness and disorderly conduct; discharged.

John Letterle, assault and battery; no case.

John Talmage and Rube Ridgway, receiving goods, knowing them to be stolen; discharged.

Stanly McDowell, stealing mule from Ben St. Buff; continued till to-morrow.

Michael McCay was presented as a suspected felon; fined $200 for three months.

Andy Hart, (f. m. c.) charged with receiving four barrels of whisky, knowing the same to be stolen; bail in $400 to answer.

Thomas J. Thorp, a guerrilla, was hung out.

Milly, slave of Mrs. Roger Hanson, charged with stealing a sum of money; delivered to her master.

Lewellyn Ferle, charged with stealing money. No one appearing against her she was discharged. She was again presented on the charge of stealing some clothing; continued till to-day.

Laura Dugay, charged with stealing $45 from Anna Brown; bail in $300 to answer.

Alfred Henderson, slave boy, was presented charged with stealing $190 from Mr. Fisher; continued until to-day.

A Grand Jury was impannelled.

We would call the attention of our readers to the following order issued from Frankfort:

HEADQUARTERS, KY. NATIONAL LEGION, INSTITUTE OF GENS. OFFICE, FRANKFORT, KY. April 22, 1865.—General Order No. 2.—The militia law approved March 4, 1865, repeals the militia laws previously enacted by the General Assembly of Kentucky that conflict therewith; consequently all the militia officers and men in the State of Kentucky are relieved of their commands. There are now no militia officers or organizations in Kentucky, except the appointments and organizations under the recent law of March 4, 1865.

Only one company of militia from each of the regiments will be organized, at present, under said law.

Unless a company of active militia, in each county or regimental district, is organized by the 10th day of May next, a draft will be ordered.

By order of the Governor.

W. H. HAYS,
Inspector General of Kentucky.

ANNIVERSARY OF AZUR LODGE NO 25, I. O. C. T. THE LODGE will celebrate its 10th anniversary with appropriate ceremonies, at their lodge room in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Orton by George W. Morris, Esq. The exercises are public.

COLUMBUS GABART, from Daviess county, who belonged to Walker Taylor's command, delivered himself up to the Pro-vost Marshal yesterday, and was sent to the barracks.

It is stated that no less than eighty thousand persons availed themselves of the opportunity of taking a last look at the mortal remains of President Lincoln at Indianapolis Sunday.

We understand that the milkmen of this vicinity propose having a meeting some time during the present week for the purpose of reducing the price of milk.

The fifty-fifth regiment Kentucky troops, that has been on duty for several months at Covington, Kentucky, has been ordered to Mount Sterling.

COWARD.—A young lady of New Albany cowed him a well-known young gentleman of that city Sunday evening. No names given.

A controversy is going on in the Episcopal papers in respect to the right of a ministering allowing his pulpit to be occupied by one of another denomination.

A man in Troy, New York, had his arm blown off while firing a salute, and while he was lying senseless and bleeding, some one robbed him of $13.

THANKS.—We are under renewed obligations to Billy Pulford, mail agent on the Nashville road, for favors.

ITEM.—The clerk of the County Court issued eighty-six marriage licenses during the last month.

DISCHARGED.—The sick soldiers in the various hospitals around the city are being rapidly discharged and sent to their homes.

The following order was issued by O. Howard:

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY TENNESSEE. April 27, 1865.—The citizens along the routes of the Army of Tennessee are requested to remain at your homes as much as possible while the columns are passing by. Hostilities having ceased promiscuous foraging is prohibited. The necessary supplies in addition to what the army transports, will be procured by the quartermaster and commissary departments. Quartermasters and commissaries will be instructed to pay the cost or furnish proper vouchers. Citizens will do well to aid the officers commanding guards, patrols, etc., in every possible way to apprehend and bring to punishment any who commit depredations upon themselves or our men.

Gen. Johnston's army is to deliver up their arms to the United States to-morrow at Greensboro, seventy-five miles west of Raleigh.
